GOODLETTSVILLE NOTES.

For some reason or other there has been a great decrease of Globe subscribers. Does it mean that the people of Goodlettsville have so soon grown tired of supporting such a worthy race enterprise?

Miss Kate Dozier was recently elected assistant superintendent of Baker's Chapel C. M. E. Sunday School.

Rev. D. R. Giles, pastor of the C. M. E. Church at Iron City, preached at Baker's Chapel C. M. E. Church last Thursday night.

Rev. J. W. White, superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, with headquarters at Xenia, Ohio, visited our town recently.

Miss Amelia White declares she can't do without the Globe, and so she has renewed her subscription.

Mr. Will Patton never allows his subscription to run out.

Mr. Lee Grooms has been indisposed.

The services at the Congregational Church last Sunday afternoon were especially enjoyed by all who were present. The pastor, Rev. J. C. Russell, preached on the subject, "High-mindedness," (Phil. 4:8).

There was a love feast service at the C. M. E. Church last Sunday night.

Miss Kittie Garrett, one of the staunch supporters of the Globe, has recently been elected primary teacher of the C. M. E. Sunday school.

It is so shameful to see large crowds of young people loafing about every Sunday during church services.

Our public school is still in a prosperous condition. The principal, Prof. R. G. Rideout, is faithful and energetic and would be creditable to any community.

Much sickness is the condition of affairs here now.

Miss Marie L. Thomas was a guest at the social given by the Y. P. S. C. E. of Howard Congregational Church, Nashville, on the evening of the 12th inst.

Mrs. Emma Joyner has chosen the better part, and so her subscription for the Globe will be renewed next week.

Mr. James Jones, of Nashville, visited relatives and friends here last week.

Little Nathan L., son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Cantrell, has been very sick, but is now improving.

Miss Anna L. Hendricks was at home again last Sunday.

Mr. J. M. Payne is still among the vital supporters of the Globe.

CHATTANOOGA AND THE CLANS- MAN.

Special to the Nashville Globe.

Chattanooga, Tenn., Feb. 12.—The effort to prevent the appearance of The Clansman in this city last Wednesday resulted in a fiasco. The man that is responsible for the failure of the movement, it is alleged, is the Rev. Joseph E. Smith, pastor of the First Colored Congregational Church. The reverend gentleman, in company with the men whose names were signed to the petition below, called on

Mayor W. L. Frierson and asked that the play be prohibited from showing in the city. The Mayor, being without authority to take the step, encouraged the committee to present the petition to the Council. Whereupon the following was presented to Mr. Griggsby, the colored member of the city council:

"Chattanooga, Tenn., Feb. 4, 1907.
"To the Honorable Board of Mayor and Aldermen, Chattanooga, Tenn.:

"Gentlemen: Representing the colored citizens of Chattanooga we come demanding nothing. The best interests of home and community brings us before your body. The vicious effects of the presentation of 'The Clansman' lends nothing to the uplifting of the individual nor to the community at large. We note the evil consequences that have followed in its wake wherever it has been presented. It tends to prevent an amicable relationship between the races.

"We therefore most respectfully petition your honorable body to suppress its presentation in our city.

The document was signed with the following names, all colored professional men: R. W. Allen, W. A. Thompson, J. A. Mason, E. C. Wickliffe, J. W. Tate, J. P. Frierson, E. W. Rogers, W. H. Stephens, C. West, L. C. Gibbs, G. W. Ward, J. T. Walton, W. M. Massey, J. E. Smith, William Parks, J. B. Williams, D. E. Johnson, G. H. Crider, C. A. Bell and J. H. Jackson.

Pastor Smith, declare several professional men, was one of the most ardent supporters of the resolutions asking that the play be suppressed. At the last moment they claim he lost his nerve and withdrew the document from Councilman Griggsby, who was to present it to the council. This, declare those concerned, Pastor Smith had no authority to do, since the resolutions in question were signed by twenty-two professional men, he being among those signers. The following gentle "rub" was adopted among those who believe that but for Smith their action might have received serious consideration.

"It's All Your Fault, Brother Smith!

"Apropos to the preparing of a set of inoffensive resolutions relating to the suppression of 'The Clansman' in this city and to the forceful presentation of them to Mayor Frierson, Rev. Joe Smith, pastor of the First Congregational church, and member of committee on resolutions, as the shades of night drew on, saw pandemonium break loose, negroes defenselessly shot down, the streets coated with human gore. Weak-kneed and vacillatingly he sought the chambers of the city council and pleaded for a return of said resolution for fear that his name would be published in connection with it. Out of fear that hard feelings would be engendered he failed in maintaining the courage of his convictions.

"The sense of the signed citizens was to offer the protest, feeling that the good of the community of white and black demanded it. But by a play of diplomacy on the part of Brother Joe the council assembled and adjourned without the presentation of these resolutions. We wish, therefore, to have this article convey the sense that there is nothing contained in the withdrawal of above resolutions that was a suggestion of a fear of engendering hard feelings. We therefore adopt this method of announcing to the general public that the sentiment of the signers still maintains, Brother Joe Smith to the contrary notwithstanding.

"Further, we wish to express earnest appreciation of the manifested intent of the councilmen of registering a vote against said presentation of 'The Clansman,' should the resolutions have been presented."

This communication to Rev. Smith was in the nature of a round robin as it was not signed by those signing the resolution, though it is the consensus of opinion that it expresses the sentiments of a majority of them. In the meanwhile, The Clansman appeared as per schedule and played before crowded houses, having profited by the free advertisement which had been so kindly furnished it.

PRINCE HERRMAN.

The entertainment at Fisk University Friday night, Feb. 8, was a success in every way. Every teacher and student of Fisk, and hundreds of our best citizens, were present. The 800 people who were fortunate in squeezing into Livingstone Hall were more than delighted, while the 200 or more persons who turned away from the door because there was no room inside missed a real treat. These and all others will, however, have opportunity to see Prince Herrman at his very best in a brand new programme at Meharry Auditorium the night of Friday, March 8th. This will eclipse all other programs, because the stage is sufficiently large to admit of many very special features.

Crowded houses have greeted Prince Herrman and Duke Berryman this week, 2 nights at Second Baptist Church, 2 nights at Jackson Temple and 1 night at Trinity C. M. E. Church. Their engagements for next week are as follows:

Payne Chapel A. M. E. Church, Monday night, Feb. 18th; Hubbard Chapel M. E. Church, Tuesday night, Feb. 19th; Mt. Nebo Baptist Church, Wednesday night, Feb. 20; Third Avenue Baptist Church, Thursday night, Feb. 21st; Seays Chapel M. E. Church, Friday night, Feb. 22nd.

Prince Herrman advises his many friends to see The Merchant of Venice at Fisk University Friday night, Feb. 22nd.

THE NEW ANTHEMS FOR CHURCH CHOIRS.

We acknowledge receipt of a new book of anthems, some of the most beautiful sacred anthems seen in Nashville. The book is published by the National Baptist Publishing Board, being especially prepared for church choirs and Young People's meetings. The words and music of these anthems is composed by two of the noted song writers in the person of the late Prof. Wm. Rosborough, whose two books, "Celestial Showers," make his name immortal, and Prof. J. H. Carter, of Harrisburg, Va., whose beautiful anthem, "Who is the King of Glory?" has been so favorably commented upon by music critics. No anthem presented promises to give a more general satisfaction than does this book. The price is 25 cents per copy, $2.50 per dozen, $20.00 per hundred. The fact that these anthems were written by members of the race, who were familiar with the conditions existing, places a greater value on every anthem. They are on sale at the National Baptist Publishing Board, 523 Second avenue, North, Nashville, Tenn.

ELABORATE DINNER.

An elaborate dinner was served at the beautiful home of Mr. and Mrs. William H. Franklin, 924 Main street, East Nashville, last Sunday, in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. W. Draper. The table was richly decorated with silver, the centerpiece being of Battenberg, with pink under it, in the center of which was a pot of azalea with ferns. Those seated at the table were Rev. and Mrs. Flagg, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Draper, Miss Vera Moore, Dr. Dunston, Mr. and Mrs. James Davis, Miss Mittie White, Miss Suella Beard, Miss Sallie Ezell, Miss Minnie Bramlett, Mrs. Sallie Norman, Miss Queenie Arnold, Mr. Evans, Mrs. David Ferguson and Miss L. A. Banks.

The menu consisted of frappe, celery soup and crackers, roast turkey, chicken or parsley, with dressing; cream potatoes, cranberries, corn, celery, beaten biscuits, sweet peach pickles, green peas, mixed sweet pickles, Waldo salad with white grapes on lettuce leaf, cakes, ices, black coffee and cheese sandwiches. At a late hour the guests retired complimenting Mr. and Mrs. Franklin's home and how grandly they had been entertained.

COLUMBIA NOTES.

The remains of Mrs. Mary Moore, who died in Nashville, arrived Saturday and were taken to the home of her sister, Mrs. Ella Wheatly, on East 7th street. Her funeral was conducted at Beach Grove Baptist Church, of which she was a member. She was the wife of the late Rev. George Moore, former pastor of said church. Mrs. Moore had made her home with her sister, Mrs. Wheatly, for a number of years, and although an invalid she was cheerful and will be missed from the family circle.

Miss Bessie Patton, of Nashville, was visiting friends here for a few days last week.

Mrs. Hattie Fleming is in Nashville at the bed side of her husband, who is very low.

Miss Janie Green will go to Nashville soon to reside.

Mr. Clifford Howard, of Chicago, who is visiting his mother, Mrs. Mary Young, on 18th street, is in very poor health.

Dr. J. G. Johnson passed through Columbia last week en route to Pulaski.

ROGER WILLIAMS ALUMNI.

On account of the heavy fall of snow and sleet in Nashville, which was still much in evidence on last Friday night, only a small crowd was present at the silver tea party at the Spruce Street Baptist Church, which was given by the Alumni and friends of Roger Williams University. An excellent program had been prepared. One of the unique features of the entertainment was a very beautifully decorated banner stretched across the length of the church containing the letters "Roger Williams University" in silver paper. This banner was indeed attractive, being the handwork of Mrs. Carrie Young and Miss Hester O. Brown. Both of these ladies worked diligently to make this entertainment a success. More than a thousand special appeals and invitations were sent throughout the United States to the addresses of all the students who had once attended the school. It is expected that a substantial response will be received. Miss Brown gratuitously gave her services, rendering some excellent violin solos. Others prominent in the public eye responded likewise. The receipts, while not as large as expected, were encouraging.
